RONEY'S BOYS

"Roney's Boys" at the army drew a full house last night and every piece on the program was appreciated if applause and complimentary remarks are worth anything. The concert began Monday afternoon, 7:30, at the local lyceum course, said that the present attraction completed the season's entertainment. That next season's course was all arranged and would be the best ever. That season tickets would remain the same, $5, which was at the reasonable rate of 40 cents an entertainment, but hereafter single seats would cost 75 cents for each entertainment. That next season no entertainments would be given on prayer meeting nights and so all who desired to attend could come promptly and at the hour set and in the future the time announced would be the time to begin the performance, if there was no one in the house but the performers.

During the short intermission in the program, Henry B. Roney, of Chicago, the manager and who played the accompaniments on the piano for the singers, gave a short history of the concert company, which has been in existence twenty years. He did not know that there were so many questions asked about the boys, where they came from, how he kept them well and if colds didn't interfere with their singing and if the boys were different from the every day boy of human existence. He said they were not boys from founding institutions, orphanages or those of poor people who could not care for their own. The five boys on the stage that night represented five different states, namely: Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin and South Dakota. That they came from excellent families and were bright and good, but as full of play and mischief as it was possible to imagine. Their education, secular, religious and moral was well taken care of. True, valuable years of their lives were spent out of the school room, but their journeys were improved in every way, for as they traveled the land over, including Canada, the British possessions and Mexico, wherever they went every opportunity to see and learn by visiting libraries, hospitals, mines, factories and all the important industries of the land. At Washington they had the distinction of being received by President Roosevelt, who denied himself to senators, representatives, diplomats, etc., that he might shake hands with the boys, talk with them and hear them sing. He was delighted with them. The boys visited the mints, the navy yard and every department at Washington, the fleet in Hampton Roads, were guests of the flag ship Connecticut and were royally entertained by the officers of the navy. It is part of their daily life to take notes of all they see and embody them in letters to their homes and friends and the schools they attended. Some of these letters cover 40 to 60 pages. The letters are carefully revised before being mailed, and before the letters are read and before the schools of Chicago, where 3,000 pupils were enrolled. In their travels they read and study their Bibles, all under the supervision of their manager. So you can readily see by the time their voices change and other boys must be substituted in their group, they are well informed youths, ready to continue their studies in school or go out in the world to make their mark.

Jules Levy was a very proficient player on the trombone. Jeno Huly was a beautiful player on the violin. They appeared in various uniforms, that of the army, jackies of the navy, clad as choir boys in which they sang beautifully and touchingly McKinley's favorite hymn, "Lead Kindly Light." "The Deathless Army" was the solo that endeared Master Tom Dyer to the audience. The wedding march from Lohengrin, as sung by Master Earl Eberhardt, was another marked piece. Master Parlow Doves distinguished himself in singing the "Trumpeter," "The Girls of Seville," sang in costume, accompanied by trombone castanets and triangle was a very pretty vocal presentation. "My Old Kentucky Home" was a great favorite. "Jerusalem" was sung with great fervor and impressiveness.

Before appearing in Highland costume and singing a Scotch song, the manager gave a very interesting and instructive account of the Highlanders, Lowlanders and their clans and feuds, extending back a thousand years and the costumes they wore. He said the reason the Highlanders did not clothe the knees and left it naked was because pants pressed on their knees and restricted the motion and action of the knee in scaling rough, rugged and high hills and mountains, and, strange to say, the cold in no way was uncomfortable to them. This was the reason the clans ranged all the way from 4 to 1000 persons, who took the name of their lands and fought, bled and died for their leaders.

The Roney boys were certainly to the good and all who attended felt they had got the worth of their money. The closing song was "God be with you as we meet again" and sang so that it touched all hearts and the audience dispersed feeling better than they had been there.

While attending the Editorial Convention at St. Augustine, we had the pleasure of meeting that old friend, Col. S. I. Wallis, whose many years' service was given this state, and from his own money under his contract, all expenses were paid by him to secure for this state the enormous sum of $1,089,158.66, on which by his contract made by Governor Dreyer under the great seal of this state, he had been paid fifteen per cent, or $163,377.79, but which by the manipulation of a caucus, forty members of the legislature repudiated the state's obligation and offered him $12,500 and Col. Beard's widow (his partner) the same amount. All honor to him, he declined to accept it, but today he is in poverty. Will this state continue in this unjust course? Will not the coming legislature give him the right to go into one of our state courts and prove his contract and let this great wrong be righted? What we know of this man's great work for our state, we got personally from one of the noblest men this state has always so proud of, General Robert Bullock, one of Marion county's greatest men, and that all may know what he said and Col. Wallis service in his testimony before our own state senate judiciary committee, with W. A. Blount, Pensacola's great lawyer, as its chairman.

K. of P. meet Monday evening.

LET THE LEGISLATURE PAY ITS JUST OBLIGATIONS

To Our Brother Editors of Florida:

Today we print the testimony of the noblest Roman of them all, General Robert Bullock, of whom our county was so proud, as were all our state's citizens who had the pleasure of knowing him, on what has become to this state such a famous case, that of Col. S. I. Wallis, who has become impoverished by our state refusing to carry out a contract made by Governor Dreyer under seal, by which he (Wallis) undertook to and did collect at his own expense a vast amount for this state. No one who knew General Bullock's honesty and integrity would for a moment ever question his statement. He left behind him an affidavit showing that Wallis' expenses had been, up to the date of their conversation in 1892, $23,000. While no one claims that the state, though she got $1,089,158.66 has ever paid out one dollar in the way of expenses to put this vast amount into our treasury. As an act of justice, we ask our brother editors, as far as they can, to reproduce General Bullock's testimony. Compare this treatment to Col. Wallis, who by his own work brought the state at his own expense, more than a million, with that other case. Governor Bloxham made a contract with Governor Perry, and he associated with his Judge Malone to collect the back taxes against what is now the Seaboard Air Line Railway, and they are to be paid 15 per cent, on the collection. When the railroad was ready to pay nearly $100,000, the same official that defeated Wallis payment, promptly, on receipt of the money from the railroad, paid to Governor Perry's heirs and Judge Malone the 15 per cent under their contract with Governor Bloxham.

JUSTICE OF THE WAILES CLAIM

The Wailes claim? Yes, that is coming up again and in our opinion it ought to come until Mr. Wailes is paid more money than the state has offered him. $25,000 for the collection of more than a million is a niggardly commission, especially when Mr. Wailes paid out most of the $25,000 in expenses. Leesburg Commercial.

COMPETITION

S. H. Galtskill, the successful farmer, trucker, fruit grower and stock raiser, sends the Ocala Banner a marked copy of the Winchester Sun Sentinel, Winchester, Md., where the banks of that place bid to handle the county funds. The highest bidder named $2,035 as a premium to receive the county deposits. In a letter Mr. Galtskill says:

"This is the difference it would make to the tax payers of Marion county to have the Munroe & Chambliss Bank and the Commercial Bank bidding for the treasurer's office, so that they could have the benefits of the deposits, instead of having to pay out several thousand dollars to a treasurer. See the number of miles of good roads that could be built with the money saved."

Well, is this not a matter for the county commissioners to act on? One thing is certain, when those officials need funds to run the county they have frequently requested the Ocala banks to let them know the lowest interest they would accept for a temporary loan. Now if they have the power to borrow money and see how favorable the interest account will be in open competition, we do not see why they do not have authority to say what bank will handle the county funds, by giving the most for the use of said funds.

We are satisfied of one thing. We do believe it would add at least a mile or two a year of real hard roads to Marion and would not cost the tax payers a nickel. Why not give it a trial?

We know there would be objections to this proposition, namely: that if the county commissioners took this authority they would release the treasurer's bondsman, and they could easily get a guarantee company to take the account at small cost.

It is gratifying to the many friends of Senator Baker, of Orange Home, to know that he was elected president pro tem of the senate, quite an honor and an unusual one for a hold-over senator. It is equally gratifying to his constituents of Marion and Sumter to know that the senator stands very high with his fellow members of the senate, a man that we can feel proud of and do.

PROHIBITIONISTS PUSHING

The Work of Their Cause in All Directions at Tallahassee

Tallahassee, April 3.—That the prohibitionists intend to put up an active fight during the session of the legislature is clearly indicated by the establishment of headquarters in Florida and the presence of several state-wide prohibitionists at the capital.

Rev. Brooks Lawrence, of Alabama, arrived here last night, and he will be a prominent figure in the contest. He is on a national reputation in the prohibition fight in Alabama. He is said to be an excellent organizer, and his supporters have great confidence in his ability.

The Requisite Number

At present it does not seem as if three-fifths of the members of both houses are favorable to the proposed resolution, but everyone here concedes that there will be a law passed regulating the saloon business in Florida. What these regulations are to be the future alone can tell. Some radical changes may be made, but many representatives are non-committal, and their position cannot at present be determined.

It is known that a majority of both houses are anti-saloon men, but this does not mean state-wide prohibition.

Women at Work

The Anti-Saloon League and the W. C. T. U. both have delegations here. The first organization has established headquarters over J. D. Day's harness store, while the latter organization has its headquarters at the Constantine House.

A state-wide prohibition bill was introduced in the senate by Senator Board and another prohibiting drinking on trains. He also offered a memorial to be sent to Congress asking that the order of the navy department closing the Pensacola navy yard be rescinded. This was adopted by the senate under suspension of the rules. Senator Flournoy, of DeFuniak, introduced a resolution calling for the investigation of the state insane asylum at Chattahoochee by a joint commission. Senator McMullen introduced a bill for state guarantee of bank deposits.

Albert Anson Graham, the popular grocery salesman at the H. B. Masters Co., will sever his connection with that firm and transfer his services to the Weikwa Springs Co., of which Judge W. S. Bullock is the head. Mr. Graham will superintend the shipments of the spring water, a growing demand for the same having been built up in the past year. Ocala is sorry to lose so desirable a young man as Mr. Graham, but the Star wishes him success in his new field.

Geo. W. Cleveland, city sanitary inspector, is celebrating the 25th anniversary of his coming to Ocala. He reached the Brick City just 25 years ago from Newberry, S. C., with three cents and a 1 cent postage stamp, at 3 o'clock on that day on what was then known as the F. C. & P. railroad, now a part of the S. A. L. railway. Mr. Cleveland was then heart whole and fancy free, but two years later married Miss Turner, a sister of Messrs. Frank and George Turner and has prospered ever since in a modest way and proved a very desirable citizen and a good city official. May Mr. Cleveland live to celebrate the 50th anniversary of his coming to Ocala.

Messrs. G. F. Watson and W. B. Stokes of Coleman, were in town today and dined at the Montezuma. Mr. W. is one of the most successful truckers in that section, while Mr. S. is the livrman of the place and was here to buy some stock. They report Coleman feeling fine, with prospects good for a big tomato crop, as many of the plants have tomatoes on them as big as hen's eggs. While they failed to get in the second primary for the county seat, they are not cast down.

The board of county commissioners designated Messrs. Fort and Mathews of that body to represent Marion county at the county commissioners' good roads association at its annual meeting to be held in Palatka April 27th.

The Story of a Medicine.

Its name—"Golden Medical Discovery"—was suggested by one of its most important and valuable ingredients—Golden Seal root.

Nearly forty years ago, Dr. Pierce discovered that he could, by the use of pure, tripe-refined glycerine, aided by a certain degree of constantly maintained heat and with the aid of apparatus and appliances designed for that purpose, extract from our most valuable native medicinal roots their curative properties much better than by the use of alcohol, so generally employed. So the now world-famed "Golden Medical Discovery," for the cure of weak stomach, indigestion, or dyspepsia, torpid liver, or biliousness, and kindred derangements was first made as it ever since has been, without a particle of alcohol in its make-up.

A glance at the full list of its ingredients, printed on every bottle-wrapper, will show that it is made from the most valuable medicinal roots found growing in our American forests. All these ingredients have been subjected to the most rigorous tests by the leading medical experts, and the results have been published in the "Medical Discoveries" is a book.

A little book of these endorsements has been compiled by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., and will be mailed free to any one asking same by postal card, or letter addressed to the Doctor as above. From these endorsements, copied from standard medical books of all the different schools of practice, it will be found that the ingredients composing the "Golden Medical Discovery" are advised by the court since the trial have died. We believe Mr. Adderhold still survives—now of Tampa. After the trial Mr. Adderhold said he was awfully abused in the jury room, cursed and otherwise ill treated, but he remained steadfast.

The Orlando Daily Reporter-Star says that the city is showing splendidly in its material progress. The council has four more blocks of brick pavement. Six miles of cement sidewalks are marked out placed. The city has the biggest building boom in its history. During the past year and a half hundreds of thousands of dollars have been expended in business houses, residences and the largest business block and arcade ever erected in the city. The Charleston block is going up. The water works and electric light manager says no town of its size in the state or country requires such extensive mains, electric and gas service as Orlando. It entertains 6,000 visitors this season and all were delighted with the town. This is a splendid showing and the Star congratulates the Phenomenal City on its onward progress to greatness. Ocala should sit up and take notice. Think of it, 6,000 visitors during the season. And what has done it? Publicity and a proper regard for the welfare and comfort of its visitors. Is it worth striving for? We should say yes. Why don't Ocala take a hand in business of this kind?

SOME ANCIENT HISTORY

Reminiscences of Reconstruction Days. The Attempt to Convict E. M. Gregg of Violating Election Laws

(Jacksonville Metropolis, 7th.)

E. M. Gregg was killed in Wilmington, N. C., on Monday by a falling wall. The deceased about twenty years ago resided in Marion county, Florida, and served as registration officer of that county. He was indicted in Jacksonville by the United States grand jury and tried for violating the election law many years ago in not registering negroes properly. He was most vigorously prosecuted by District Attorney Stacey, and aided by the carpet-baggers all over the state. After being out from Friday until Monday a mistrial was entered, Juror Adderhold, of Kissimmee, a Georgia democrat, refusing to agree to a verdict of guilty.

The trial was a very sensational one, as negroes were the witnesses against Gregg, and attracted much attention throughout the state. The failure to convict Gregg was followed afterwards by a fire in the courthouse, located at Bay and Market streets, and all the papers in the case were destroyed and he was never again tried. Judge Thomas Settle, District Attorney Stacey and many others of that court since the trial have died. We believe Mr. Adderhold still survives—now of Tampa. After the trial Mr. Adderhold said he was awfully abused in the jury room, cursed and otherwise ill treated, but he remained steadfast.

SUIT AGAINST THE STANDARD

The Government is Trying to Dissolve the Immense Corporation—Voluntarily Testimony in the Case

St. Louis, April 3.—John G. Milburn, counsel for the Standard Oil Company, is in charge of the argument for the Standard Oil Company. Mr. Milburn began his argument at the opening of the court yesterday in the government's suit to dissolve the trust.

Standard Oil Company has such a mass of evidence been compiled in a single case. The record, including the exhibits, already exceed 7,000,000 words, all taken by one stenographer. The United States seeks perpetually to enjoin the defendants from doing any act looking to the carrying out of the alleged combination or conspiracy and to dissolve the Standard Oil combination.

The issue is so important that whatever may be the result of the trial before the circuit court, the case certainly will be appealed to the United States supreme court.

An EVERETT in the music-room denotes musical culture throughout the home.

CROUP

THERE IS NOTHING that strikes terror to the hearts of parents more than to be awakened in the night by the ringing cough which accompanies an attack of croup. The child may retire with nothing but a slight cold and a few hours later the family be aroused by the ominous symptoms. Every home where there are small children should be prepared for these sudden attacks, as prompt treatment is necessary. Do not experiment with remedies of doubtful value, but get that has been in use for nearly forty years and never known to fail.

Mr. Homer Krohn, of Lisbon, Iowa, in a letter to the manufacturer of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, writes: "Out of the many bottles sold last winter not one was returned. We recommend it especially for children with croup." Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is famous for its prompt cures of coughs, colds and croup. When given as soon as the child becomes hoarse an attack of croup may be averted. This medicine is entirely free from narcotics or injurious substances of any kind and may be given to the little ones with absolute safety.
